Dr. William K. Meadors

This book of poems by Dr. William K. Meadors is based on an array of real life experiences. Many of the poems are written from Scriptural topics, such as the love, grace, mercy, and provisions of the Lord God Almighty. There are also cultural topics such as "Those Cotton Fields," "Sharecroppers Blues," "The Mighty Mississippi." There are also poems of emotional issues related to pain and suffering. Finally, there are poems that relate to family including Father, Mother, Brother, Son, and Wife.
