1. BISHOP HUSKINS.

1. Most people do not like change, but that does not diminish the need for change. We must change our attitudes and our actions. We must change our structure and our form. We must change our confession. We often confess, AI would never do that. @ Don=t count on it. Change is here to stay!
2. Many have decided not to move beyond their current borders of safety and comfort, but I tell you, it is an appointed time. Change is in the air. Change is a process. Change takes time. Change demands your cooperation. The winds of change are blowing all over creation. Do not be afraid, yield to the winds of change.
3. Each one will face different changes, depending on where you are in the process. Each change will produce challenges. Each challenge will produce courage. Courage will produce more change. The only thing that is here to stay is constant change.
